

Why Choose Circle Tree Ranch?

Amity's Circle Tree Ranch has offered an alternative approach to traditional alcohol and drug treatment for nearly 50 years for all individuals, families and children.

Circle Tree Ranch is located east of Tucson, Arizona on a beautiful 60-acre campus nestled between the majestic Catalina and Rincon Mountain ranges in the lush and peaceful Sonoran Desert.

Our effective treatment approach is proven for individuals with a variety of needs which allows them to heal core traumas, identify strengths, improve self-esteem, learn life skills, and address the under-lying issues that contribute to their addiction and self-destructive behaviors.

At Circle Tree Ranch, we teach the importance of community and development of authentic relationships as a key to recovery. Our culturally competent curriculum teaches and empowers our students to succeed in today's world.

Circle Tree Ranch students learn and practice new, more functional ways of living by understanding, healing and relating to themselves as well as others from new found and developed approaches to life.
